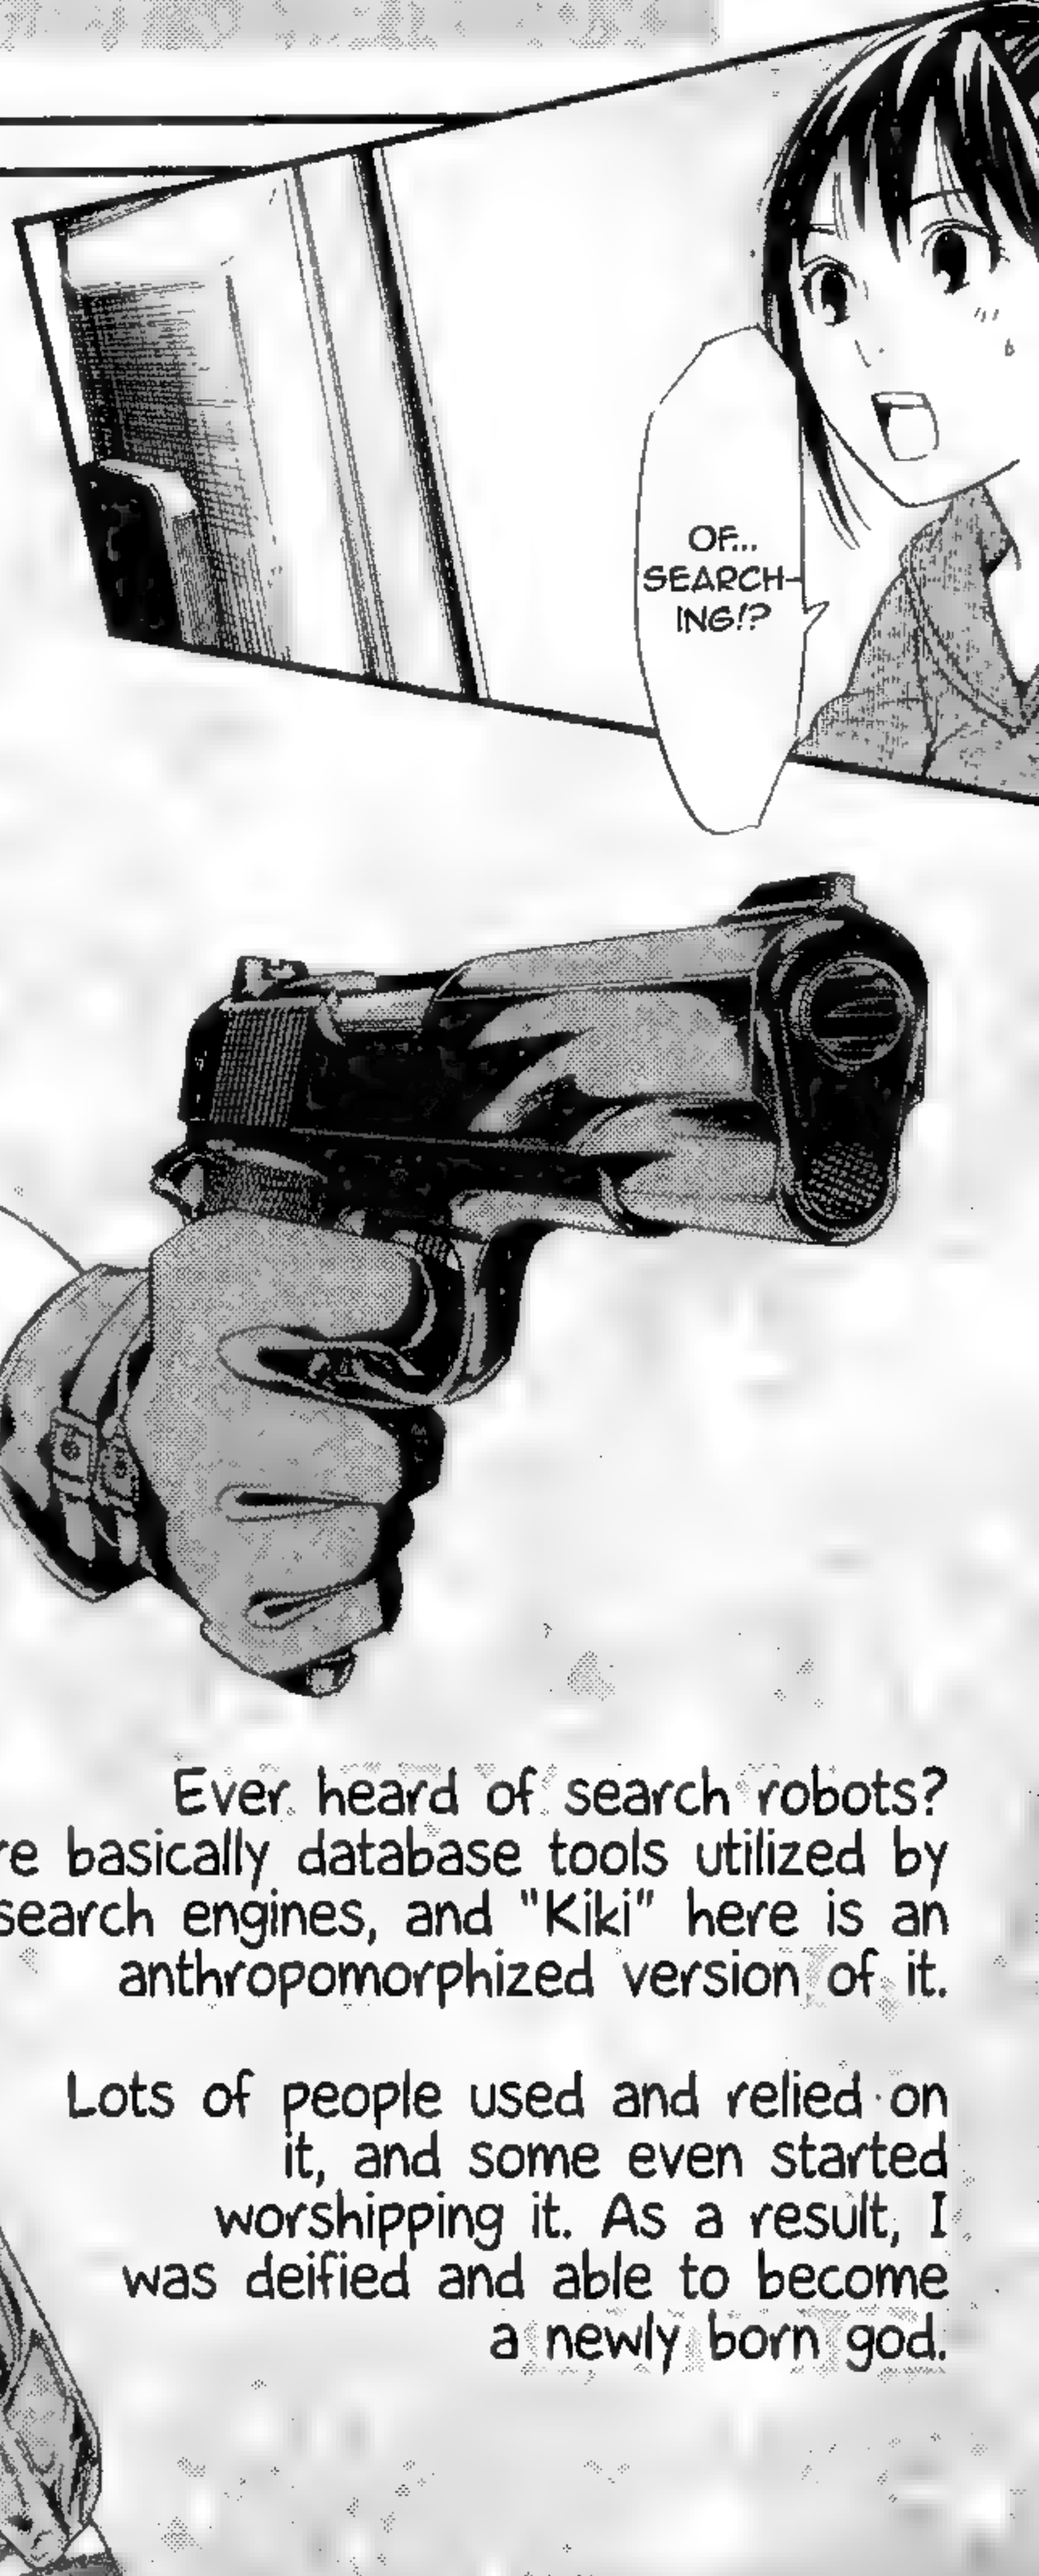
I'm the god of searching.

PI——NG ♫



Ever heard of search robots?
They're basically database tools utilized by search engines, and "Kiki" here is an anthropomorphized version of it.

Lots of people used and relied on it, and some even started worshipping it. As a result, I was deified and able to become a newly born god.

It appears that in this country, it's possible for anyone to become a god as long as they're properly treated like one. The only catch to that is finding a way to survive.

clack clack

FICTIONAL CHARACTERS CAN ACTUALLY BECOME GODS?

But then my current Shinki called out to me in my desperate time, "Wouldn't you like to become a true god?"
